FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

TRI-COUNTY COMMUNICATIONS,
RECENT CERTIFIED SERVICE CENTER (CSC)
Achieves Certification and Joins the Growing List of CSC's

GREENCASTLE, Ind. – A leader in their service industry, Tri-County Communications, has been recognized once again for its accomplishment by renewing their status as an approved Certified Service Center (CSC). Tri-County Communications has met the even more stringent national renewal requirements of the CSC program; an all-industry initiative backed by leading electronics industry associations and major product manufacturers.

Consortium of Certified Service Centers is a not-for-profit organization developed not only to represent distinguished independent electronic service centers, but also to provide a standard that the consumer can rely on when seeking quality and customer service. The CSC program was designed to identify service facilities that strive to provide honest, responsible, competent and world-class customer service. This sets not only a service industry standard but more importantly promotes positive experiences for our consumers.

Tri-County Communications has completed a voluntary rigorous renewal application and review process and implemented the strict set of escalated guidelines promoting business excellence that is required to renew a company's standing as a Certified Service Center. Tri-County Communications has met all CSC renewal requirements that ensure an even higher code of conduct promoting consumer confidence such as certified management and technicians, consumer protection programs, and quality assurance plans.

"Since 1976, Tri-County has offered hi-tech and affordable communication solutions using two-way, paging, and wireless data. Utility companies, municipalities, emergency management departments and others have come to rely on Tri-County to maintain the communication infrastructures that are critical for their delivery of life support services. Emergency Service Squads depend on us to supply and service their radio communications gear. Government agencies, schools and businesses across the United States have turned to our expertise for effective and affordable wireless solutions. When it comes to wireless, you can count on us to keep you in touch."
